

REGIONAL STRATEGIC TOURISM PLAN RFP 2022 QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Q. Can you please define the difference between a joint proposal and a proposal with a primary proposer and subcontractors?

A. A joint proposal would entail multiple companies joining forces to provide a comprehensive proposal in response to the RFP, delineating specific roles for specific partners, and both (or all) companies would have a direct working role with Visit California.

A primary proposer that intends to use subcontractors may necessarily need to be named at the written proposal stage, but would indicate that some work would be subcontracted — with Visit California retaining approval rights on final vendor selection. The expectation would be that Visit California staff will not have direct contact with subcontractors.

Q. If our proposal includes subcontractors but is not considered a joint proposal with another firm, do we need to submit financial statements for each company we propose as subcontractors?

A. No, financials are not required for subcontractors.

Q. So that we can “size” the research needs of the project, can you please share what current research Visit California has access to that can be leveraged to support the scope of the RFP? What research gaps do you feel you have relative to the scope of the project?

A. Research needs will vary by region, and is part of the initial discovery phase conducted by the vendor.

Research that exists at the local level may be aggregated into the plans. Reports available include:

- Economic impact
- Lodging metrics (hotel/vacation rental)
- Lodging forecast (hotel)
- Airlift (airport)
- Visitor profiles (origin markets)

- Q. Do you have a list of all stakeholders currently available and/or will be provided to the awarded vendor?
- A. Visit California will supply a list of tourism-related businesses within a specific region.
- Q. Can you please clarify which counties are included within each region?
- A. See page 33 of the Travel Impacts Report. Note that counties can be in multiple regions. Regions can be more granularly defined by ZIP codes, see attached.
- Q. Does Visit California have a detailed list of the countries, cities, towns, etc. included in each of the 12 tourism regions?
- A. See above.
- Q. Can you please elaborate on your current plan for the implementation of the regional strategic tourism plans across the state?
- A. Visit California envisions distribution of written plans to a comprehensive list of stakeholders and interested parties in each region, plus a public presentation in each region and media outreach. The plans themselves should identify priority action items in each region, and Visit California should lead communication efforts with regional stakeholders to press for implementation with appropriate decision makers.
- Q. Has another CA agency(s) conducted ESG assessments for the 12 tourism regions, or would the vendor be expected to develop net new assessments to determine priorities? Assessments could include climate impact analysis, ESG materiality assessments, community engagement / surveying, etc.
- A. No agency has conducted assessments by tourism region. The RFP does not specifically require ESG assessments, though the vendor is expected to identify priorities in each region.

- Q. Have you or another agency conducted any recent assessments related to the scope of this RFP? If so, can you share any high-level themes which you've uncovered?
- A. The pre-assessment report conducted of tourism stakeholders is available to all prospective bidders on the RFP website.
- Q. Can you specify which stakeholders are included in the outreach process? (e.g., community members)
- A. The types of stakeholders to be consulted are listed in the RFP. Visit California will provide the successful bidder with lists of tourism stakeholders. The vendor is expected to discover appropriate non-tourism stakeholders, such as those from government, civic and NGO entities.
- Q. Beyond the "Destination Stewardship" principles, are there any other tourism / sustainable development principles that you're focused on, such as the UN Sustainability Tour?
- A. No. The vendor, in consultation with Visit California, can determine the appropriate sustainable tourism principles to incorporate in the plans.
- Q. Has Visit California previously engaged or managed sustainability and/or environmental Justice mandates from the state government?
- A. Visit California operates its business in compliance with all applicable laws and regulations.
- Q. What level of connection / causation are you expecting on the actual impacts? You make mention of plans to create a stable workforce by ameliorating housing imbalances and would like plans that show demonstrable effects, so we'd like to understand your expectations on impact measurement and validation (e.g., directional, causation, etc.)
- A. We expect the plans to make recommendations to achieve solutions to the issues they identify. At a minimum, recommendations should be directional.

- Q. Does the $375,000 per region have to be allocated or tracked in any way?
- A. Yes. The selected vendor should allocate the available budget to ensure each regional plan achieves the results outlined in the scope of work. Allocations may be different region-to-region, since each region has different issues and priorities. Expenses should be tracked so the project can be reported externally, including to the Board of Directors of the California Travel & Tourism Commission.
- Q. Can you clarify what you mean by conflicts of interest and which parties are covered by this statement?
- A. We would like to confirm that the team(s) you will assign to our project do not have conflicting interests with other clients in which they are engaged. Specifically, we want to ensure those clients are not direct competitors of our Destination Marketing Organization, and that there will not be cross-contamination or duplication of ideas/work between us and those respective clients.
- Q. Do you expect to merge all 12 regional strategies together into a singular vision and strategy for Visit California?
- A. This would be an ideal outcome, although it is dependent on the commonalities in the plans. The primary goal is to provide insight, assessments, priorities and recommendations for regional stakeholders.
- Q. The bullet points in 8.3 suggest that this project has a strong marketing qualifications orientation (“Overall experience in marketing accounts” and “include the length of time with the agency”). Is that intentional?
- A. Yes.
- Q. There are several independent specialty tourism research organizations whose services are critical to be able to deliver the information required for the project including, but not limited to, Tourism Economics and Destination Analysts. Is it possible to submit a proposal for the project naming these organizations without prior commitment from them?

A. Yes.

Q. Does Visit California have a comprehensive list of Destination Marketing Organization contacts, government leaders, organizations, and agencies in each of the 12 regions that should be included in the tourism strategy project?

A. Visit California will provide the successful bidder with lists of tourism stakeholders. The vendor is expected to discover appropriate non-tourism stakeholders, such as those from government, civic and NGO entities.

Q. Who will be providing the direct oversight and management of the overall project? Has a point person or division of Visit California been assigned to this role?

A. This project sits under the Public Affairs team. The point people are:

- Ryan Becker, Vice President of Communications
- Angie Pappas, Director of Public Relations
- Dan Smith, Public Affairs and Sustainability Manager

Q. Who will be the point person / organization for development of each regional plan? Please provide a list of these if possible.

A. See above. Visit California plans to maintain oversight of each regional plan. Additionally, in the course of plan development, it is possible a tourism stakeholder in one or more regions will be identified and designated as a contact person for that specific region.

Q. Can you please provide a complete organizational chart for Visit California?

A. No, this is an internal document. However, as outlined above this project sits under the Public Affairs team governed by Ryan Becker, VP of Communications. The point people are:

- Ryan Becker, Vice President of Communications

- Angie Pappas, Director of Public Relations
- Dan Smith, Public Affairs and Sustainability Manager

Q. What role will the Visit California Board of Directors play in overseeing this project?

A. The board oversees all aspects of Visit California's operations and budgeting but would not undertake day-to-day oversight of this project.

Q. Will Visit California be involved in overseeing each region's planning work? Or is oversight for the work being delegated to each region? Will each regional plan be approved separately, or is the goal to approve the plans as one whole?

A. Oversight for the regional plans will be maintained by Visit California with input from regional stakeholders. Each plan will be approved separately. A staggered rollout of the plans is expected, but the final communications and release plan would be decided in the contract process.

Q. Will the 12 Regional Tourism Strategic Plans be managed by the different regional Destination Marketing Organizations or will Visit California be leading the full engagement on the client side. Can you share your proposed governance framework so our methodology can align and mirror your planned project management & oversight plan?

A. Visit California will manage the project process from HQ. The organization's committee structure and strong gateway partnerships ensure strong participation of the industry, and regional partners may be designated to provide guidance and aid plan development, dissemination and implementation steps.

Q. The Strategic Planning Effort Final report recommends that Visit California give special consideration to the Gateway Cities and their needs. Please describe what is meant by "special consideration".

A. The plans for the urban regions should take into consideration the unique challenges they face, as they have different economic conditions than smaller communities. Pre-pandemic, the gateways accounted for the majority of visitor spending in the state, but they have been the slowest to recover.

- Q. While Visit California is developing the 12 regional plans, GO-Biz is developing plans for their 13 regions. How much coordination between these two planning efforts is anticipated, or desired?
- A. The plans in this RFP are tourism-specific. It is expected the GO-Biz effort could be a resource to inform these plans, as would numerous other state, regional, county, city and Destination Marketing Organization plans that exist or are underway.
- Q. Please describe how (or whether) Visit California will integrate the regional planning process into its own statewide planning processes.
- A. It is possible depending on the commonalities in the plans. The primary goal is to provide insight, assessments, priorities and recommendations for regional stakeholders.
- Q. Can Visit California share a copy of the 2022 Community sentiment research for us to better understand the scope of research / surveying conducted?
- A. Yes, when it is completed, the community sentiment work will be provided to the vendor. Reports are expected to be complete by mid-October.
- Q. Has Visit California conducted a visitor sentiment survey recently that may be used as part of the research? Was visitor research segmented by the 12 regions?
- A. It is underway and will be provided to the successful vendor.
- Q. What is the scale of the print run expected for final plan distribution?
- A. Approximately 500 copies.
- Q. Is $375,000 per region a firm budget designation or is the selected consultant allowed to price accordingly based on resource needs of each region?

- A. The total budget provides $375,000 per region with a $500,000 contingency fund that can be used as needed to supplement the base amount in some regions.
- Q. Can portions of the project fee be set aside to be regranted for purposes of community engagement (i.e., participation stipends to residents or community-based organizations, translation services, childcare services, etc.)?
- A. Dollars allocated to this project cannot be regranted. However, funds can be used to cover the costs of gathering information that is necessary for the scope of the project. For example, if holding a community meeting with relevant stakeholders is necessary for plan development, funds could be used to hire a translator for the meeting or cover the cost of childcare during the meeting.
- Q. Is there a required format in which proposals must be submitted? For example, PDF/DOCX/MP4/URL, etc.?
- A. PDF is preferred, with links to any multimedia elements. One physical hard copy should also be delivered.
- Q. Does Visit California anticipate engaging small businesses (including ancillary type businesses) that may not be represented by Chambers of Commerce as part of the planning process?
- A. The vendor is expected to engage the business community in each region, including the tourism businesses and others as necessary.
- Q. Is Visit California open to staggered / sequential completion of plans (for example, Southern California by end of 2023 and Northern California regions by end of 2024)?
- A. All work is expected to stay within the timeframe outlined, though there may be rolling releases by region over a period of time, given scheduling needs for community meetings.
- Q. Will other CA state agencies be providing support to the goals of this initiative via aligned funding or programming (i.e., Housing and Community Development and/or CA Workforce Development Board) and/or does Visit California anticipate the involvement of other state agencies throughout the planning process through a steering committee?

A. No.

Q. You require that the selected agency / consortium have experience in communications. Can you clarify this? For example, who is owning the external communication around this project – Visit California or the agency / consortium?

A. Visit California will lead communication efforts, but the vendor is expected to recommend strategic paths and provide tactical support, and present findings as needed throughout the rollout process.

Q. Should all applications include all 12 regions, or will Visit California also accept applications from vendors who wish to focus their application on one or a couple of regions?

A. Applications should include all 12 regions.

Q. Do all subcontractors need to be identified at the time of application submission, or could vendors propose to work with Visit California to identify subcontractors during the initial phase of work?

A. If a subcontractor is proposed to complete a substantial amount of work — i.e., an entire region, the entire communications part for all regions, etc. — they should be named in the proposal. Visit California retains the right to approve all vendors associated with the project, though smaller subcontractors may have no direct contact with the client.

Q. Should vendors propose budgets up to $5 million, or does Visit California wish to retain the $500,000 contingency funding (i.e., vendors would propose up to $4.5M total budgets)?

A. Vendors should propose a total budget up to $5 million, keeping in mind scale and complexity of some regions.
